RCLS Board Talking Points

At its Monday August 19 meeting, the RCLS Board of Trustees had the following Talking Points:

- Thanked Grace Riario and RCLS Board members for attending the successful summer legislative meetings.
- Acknowledged that by being proactive, the RCLS cybersecurity software was updated due to recent ransomware attacks on other NYS Library Systems.
- Recognized RCLS Trustee Helen Rados who was awarded the NYLA Friends of Libraries Section Daniel W. Casey Library Advocacy Award.
- RCLS Board of Trustees continue to visit member libraries at their monthly Board meetings.
- Noted there is still time to register for the Legislative Breakfast and Annual Meeting scheduled for Friday, September 13 at The Sullivan Event Center.

The Talking Points will be elaborated on in the Minutes of the August Board meeting, which will be posted to the RCLS website about a week before the next regular meeting on Monday, October 14 at RCLS. The current materials are available on the website (Minutes/Financial Reports, Executive Director's Report and Assistant Director's Report). If you have any questions about the Talking Points, contact Grace Riario (243.3747, ext. 233 or e-mail).

Last Call for Legislative Breakfast and Annual Meeting

The 32nd Legislative Breakfast and 60th Annual Meeting will be held at The Sullivan Event Center, Rock Hill on Friday, September 13. Check-in will begin at 8:00 a.m. and the continental breakfast will be ready by 8:30 a.m. Meet with State and county legislators about current issues facing libraries. Acknowledgment of the four Annual Meeting Awards winners. The business meeting, presentation of the 2020 RCLS Budget, and election of four RCLS Trustees will follow. Member library Boards of Trustees have been sent ballots to vote on the RCLS Budget. This is a good opportunity to view the Budget and ask questions regarding it.

Use the RCLS online calendar to register today. Deadline for reservations is Friday, September 6. For information, contact Ruth Daubenspeck at RCLS (ext. 222 or e-mail).

Battle of the Books

Sunday, September 8 is the date for the RCLS Battle of the Books in Middletown at SUNY Orange's Orange Hall Theater from 12:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Teens from 18 RCLS member libraries will form 19 teams to battle their way to the top.

Participating teens have read the same eight books. The Battle of the Books will test their knowledge as teams go head-to-head to answer trivia questions based on the eight titles.

This is an exciting event that draws teens from across the system. Will the five-time champs from Daniel Pierce Library, Grahamsville be able to retain their title? This year will be the largest Battle to date! Come by and see what all the excitement is about!

Thanks to the SUNY Orange Education Department for sponsoring this event.

Autism Welcome Here Grant

Libraries and Autism will again award a total of $5,000 in "Autism Welcome Here: Library Programs, Services, and More" grants, either for one proposal or to be divided among several applicants. All types of libraries in the US and Canada are encouraged to apply. Applicants may propose to initiate a new program, bring an established program to the library for the first time, or enhance a program already offered. Applications will be accepted from September 1 to December 1. For more information and application, visit the Libraries and Autism website.

Partner with National Voter Registration Day

Public Policy and Advocacy Office, Aug. 23

ALA, a premier partner of National Voter Registration Day, encourages libraries to sign up to observe the unofficial holiday on September 24. Libraries that sign up by September 12 will receive a toolkit of free promotional materials: posters and stickers, and opportunities for training. National Voter Registration Day is a nonpartisan, unofficial holiday celebrated on the fourth Tuesday of September. US libraries provide voter registration forms and information about voting, as well as offer computers that patrons can use to register to vote, update their registrations, or research information about the candidates and the issues.

Stress Management Training
 Our workdays are filled with expectations of multitasking and increasing emphasis on efficiency and productivity. Tack on a culture of being "stressed," in which people falsely believe that if you aren't stressed, you're not working hard, and stress management and self-care can quickly become an afterthought. Discussing stress and mental health in the workplace can be difficult, but the benefits are worth the effort.
 Join us in a stress management training to learn about stress reduction and gain mental-health-friendly activities to help yourself and your staff recharge, boost your mood, and increase productivity at work and home.

 COMMUNITY NETWORK

Living Well Ellenville

Ellenville Public Library & Museum has partnered with Ellenville Regional Hospital to offer an ongoing series, Living Well Ellenville, to promote health and wellness in the community. Each Thursday at 10 a.m. the program starts with a short group walk, followed by a healthy snack, beverage and wellness related program at the library. Topics vary but focus on health and wellness. On August 6 the program was highlighted by the National Library of Medicine. To learn more about Living Well Ellenville, visit the library's website or contact Library Director Kristin Fowler (kfowler@rcls.org or 647-5530).

Share a library-related photo, include a brief caption, your name, position and the library's name. A photo release is required from recognizable individuals in the photo. Banned Books Week Ideas for Libraries Serving Teens

Intellectual Freedom Blog, Aug. 21

Jamie M. Gregory writes, “‘Censorship leaves us in the dark. Keep the light on.’ This is ALA’s theme for Banned Books Week, September 22–28. Banned Books Week is my favorite annual celebration in the library because it offers so many learning opportunities to students, most importantly by opening the door to discussion about intellectual freedom and its role in a democratic, open society. Different types of censorship create different types of darkness in our society. This year, try out the following topics and activities for teens to consider.”

Workshop

Once a decade, America comes together to count every resident in the United States. Counting an increasingly diverse and growing population is a massive undertaking. Ultimately, the success of the census depends on everyone's participation. Libraries, as always, will be playing a pivotal role in educating community members about the impact the Census data will have in our lives for the next ten years.

This 2020 Census training is for library staff serving children and teens. Learn how the 2020 Census can make an impact on our youngest library users, and how you can help patrons fill out the 2020 Census.

We want to be prepared!

How to Spot a Fake: Disinformation and Our Media

Share techniques for spreading false information on the internet. Includes an ideation session on how to help our communities identify truth from fiction.

While disinformation is as old as snake oil salesmen, our current media environment brings new and pernicious challenges. Our media diets these days include curated social media feeds in addition to too-many outlets like televised newscasts and radio programs. When we engage in biased media, our ideas about the world are confirmed again and again.

Education about media sources new and old is one way to help ourselves and our communities see outside of our filter bubbles. To that end, this three-hour workshop will provide a historical overview and framework for false information. We'll uncover the ways in which social media has added to these challenges. And we'll share methods for spotting bad information by looking at real-world examples of information that rapidly spreads on the internet.

We know these issues impact our communities, and so we'll close by identifying easy-yet-impactful ways of working with library users to be on the lookout for information that is designed to manipulate us.

Algorithms in Everyday Life: How Hidden Biases Impact Our Most Vulnerable Neighbors

Describes how biased thinking makes its way into computerized systems. Provides hands-on activities to help learners understand algorithms. Helps participants identify next steps for assisting impacted populations.

Computer systems are increasingly tasked with making decisions for and about human beings. They are making decisions about which ads to show us, whether or not we make it to the second round of a job interview, and even how long prison sentences should be.

These systems are reliant on algorithmic processes. Algorithms are often considered a company's "secret sauce," and usually the public doesn't know what's in them. This session will demystify the concept of an algorithm and will shed light on what we do know about the systems that make some of the more pressing decisions in our lives.

We will learn how our human biases are incorporated into algorithms, discuss the venues in which algorithm-based systems are pernicious, and discuss new ways of helping our communities better understand this new backdrop of machine-based decision making.
